

Harrison's Principles of Internal Medicine is the most well known Textbook for Internal Medicine and can be regarded as the standard in this field.

Professor Neumann has been repeatedly invited to contribute with one chapter, the chapter "Pheochromocytoma". Always updated, this chapter was published meanwhile in 4 editions: edition 16, 17, 18 and 19. Edition 16 was published in 2005, edition 17 in 2008, edition 18 2012, edition 19 2015 and edition 20 2017. Professor Neumann has been reinvited for this chapter again. The manuscript has been accepted meanwhile and will soon be published.

The 20th edition was done by a total of nearly 600 authors. Of these, there are only 3 from Germany including me.
